Memorial of Harriet Martineau. Foreign life.

No.22

• ? • A description of the travels of Harriet Martineau in the United States from 1834-36. Tells what she studied particularly. Her deafness increased her powers of observation. Includes a letter from Mr. & Mrs. Gilman of Charleston, S. C. to H. M.'s mother. A quotation from her journal describes an interview with Albert Gallatin. "... Gallatin would have the president a cypher too ..." H. M. describes Niagara Falls and West Point. Marvels at the independence of young people in America. Says that Americans cannot understand Jane Austen's "Pride and Prejudice." Manuscript. 28 p. on 27 l. x 8 1/4 in.

To Algernon Charles Swinburne 1837-1909

[Bristol] His allusion to an article on Erechtheus was to that printed in the Academy. Thinks the description of Chthonia's death as beautiful as any messenger's speech in Euripides. Hopes his recognition of the Aeschylean elements in play seem to be right. Is pleased that Swinburne liked The Greek Poets. Is about to print essays on "Fragments of the Tragic and Comic Poets."

To Miss Field

No. 463

26, Royal Avenue, Chelsea, S.W., (London). The writer acknowledges the receipt of a letter from Miss Field. Tells her to write directly to a Mr. Wood, who bought the opera about which Miss Field was inquiring. Says he has seen his letters published with a comment by Miss Field, and that this publication resulted in his receiving a letter from a former schoolmate whom he hadn't seen for forty years. Complains that his name was spelled wrong in the abovementioned publication.

New York. The writer has just returned from Panama. Says that he and his wife have sent newspapers to Miss Field at various times. Jenny Gilder put a notice of Miss Field's lecture in the Gazette. Criticizes some of Miss Field's letters and articles. Tells her how to collect her pay from Col. Henry Matterson. Says that nine-tenths of the recognition his Victorian Poets obtained in England was due to her efforts. Discusses various English reviews. Tells about the activities of various mutual friends, Whitelaw Reid, Louise C. Moulton and others. Describes Panama.

1. ? The writer says that Harriet Martineau "used to find great fault with the delay of consultations in writing Biography." She thought that revision often destroyed clearness of impression. Tells about young men naming their horses after Miss Martineau. The writer, however, didn't mention this practice in the "Memorials." "In her Eastern travels H. M. recommends the use of cigars in journeying." Mr. Atkinson suggested the inclusion of an illustration of H. M. smoking a cigar in the "Memorials."

The second part of these notes is entitled "The Hour and the Man." The writer praises H. M.'s choice of titles. Received "The Hour and the Man" on visiting Haiti in 1840 and showed it to her acquaintances who thought H. M. must have

c ? The writer begins with a brief reference to Harriet Martineau's will. Goes on to discuss what H. M. said about the material to be included in the "Autobiography," and what was to be excluded. Talks about H. M.'s funeral, and a post-mortem done on H. M. at the request of Ellen Martineau. Mentions an effort to keep her from referring to James Martineau's bad conduct in the "Autobiography." A book by the Princess Doria d'Istria mentions H. M. Tells of an effort to induce the City of Boston to remove two licentious teachers, one the brother of Ezra S. Gannett, and the other a man named Forbes, from the Coloured School. The Abolitionists wanted to break up the School, which was founded by Rev. William Ellery Channing. Westminster Hotel, New York. Heard that Sarah Southwick was going to have Mrs. Joy as her guest at Rockledge. Was interested in Joseph Lupton's letter about G. Thompson, who "appears to have exhibited increasing debility and attenuation..". Went to a piano concert given by Madame Annette Essipoff. "Photius Fisk must have been mistaken as to her having played in Boston." Mentions heavy rain. Heard John Weiss preach. H. Villard sent W.L.G. a telegram from Lawrence, Kansas. Harold Villard has an infected ear.

•Roxbury, (Mass.): Explains a sudden return home. His attendance at the funeral of Mrs. Jenkins was earnestly desired, and it seemed to him that Mrs. G. had spiritually warned him of the necessity of his return. There was no family reunion on Thanksgiving Day, because of Charlotte Coffin's illness. Names the few people who were there. "In the forenoon Frank and Gissing took a stroll to Allendale hill, a distance of at least six miles ..." Says that the temperature has fallen to 16° below freezing. "... his kidney trouble causes considerable debility."

Roxbury, (Mass.). Wrote a criticism of a sermon by James F. Clarke on the state of the nation. It was published in the Journal. In it W.L.G. referred to "a treacherous suggestion of E. L. Godkin ... that one of the Hayes electors should play false, and so cast his vote as to secure the election of Tilden!" Has a low opinion of Godkin. Dr. Bartol thanked him for his letter about the Clarke sermon. "Susan B. Anthony lectured very acceptably, ... on suffrage in the Paine Hall ... Wendell Phillips spoke on Education at the Parker Fraternity Church ..."

Edg baston? The writer reports that "the concluding part of the Memorials in the Autobiography of Harriet Martineau is in the hands of our English printers." Mentions some details of proof reading and dealings with Smith, Elder & Co. The writer explains the reason for striking out "pro-slavery tendencies" in one passage, -there was no justification for attributing pro-Slavery tendencies to the leaders of the Free Trade movement. "If it is not too late can you alter the passage in the American Edition?" The writer refrains from requesting an alteration of the "painful passage" in the book. (Meaning not clear) Concedes that the addressee has a right to follow her own discretion. Says that the last of the Norwich Martineaus died two days ago.

47 Charlotte Road. The addressee's visit to Norwich has led the writer to think of the changes in Norwich since the time when her relations lived there. Has read the three volumes of Harriet Martineau's Autobiography, and has thus had "to do with Norwich by means of your aunt's graphic and deeply interesting story." Hopes the book will help its readers to understand the dispositions of young people. The writer can read what is said about Unitarians without being hurt, as he seems to know the circumstances that vexed her Harriet Martineau, and he is not concerned with defending "the stiff and dull Unitarians to whom mainly her remarks apply."

„Roxbury, (Mass.). Discusses Pres. R. B. Hayes's policy toward the South. Says that R. B. H. "conceded to the 'bull-dozers' of Louisiana and South Carolina all that they have been so insolently demanding ..." Withdrawal of the Federal troops "has practically disfranchised the poor, defenceless colored people ..." W.L.G. doesn't see how Pres. Hayes can change his present course of action.

Rockledge. Has returned from England, and, "strange to say" was not seasick crossing the Atlantic. Was greatly troubled by an itching of the skin, about which he intends to consult Dr. White. Was glad to hear of H. Villard's recovery from pneumonia. Called on Mrs. S. J. Savin and others in New York. Enjoyed his European trip. Mary A. Estlin went with him and F. J. Garrison to North Wales. Met G. Thompson at Leeds. Found him in poor health. Mrs. T. was also very sick and not expected to live long. Names those who called on him since his return. R. F. Wallcutt is unemployed. John Richie and his German wife are expected home soon. "It seems California is the place for fattening men." W.L.G. gained weight on his trip.

Roxbury, (Mass.). H. F. (G.) V. must have been disappointed at the failure of the shipyard at Chester to launch the steamship Oregon, after having gone to see it. Refers to the date of his birth. Sent a copy of the Literary World containing tributes to J. G. Whittier on his 70th birthday. Was invited to speak in New York at the celebration of Forefathers' Day, but declined. Is going to hear Herman Linde, a German memory expert, recite Shakespeare's Julius Caesar.
